Synopsis:

Dr. JOHN HOPE FRANKLIN delivered opening address before three-day working student conference held 2/7-9/64 sponsored jointly by Bryn Mawr and Haverford Colleges.

LEONARD BOUDIN, identified as concealed member of Communist Party prior to 1945 and recently listed as General Counsel of Emergency Civil Liberties Committee.

- RUC -

DETAILS:MISCELLANEOUS

"The Main Line Times," a weekly suburban newspaper published in Ardmore, Pa., edition of January 30, 1964, contained an article entitled "Revolution Program Set." A subcaption indicated "400 Students Due at Seminars." The article set out that "The Second American Revolution," a working conference on the current Negro movement in America, sponsored by students of Bryn Mawr and Haverford Colleges, announced a three-day program from February 7-9, 1964, at the Haverford Campus, is expected to draw some 400 students and resource personnel from more than 50 colleges and universities.

The official program of events for the Second American Revolution indicated that on Friday, February 7, 1964, from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m., the opening address would be given by JOHN HOPE FRANKLIN, Chairman, Department of History, Brooklyn College. The title of his address was to be "The Civil Rights Revolution: Historical Setting."

An article in the February 13, 1964, edition of "The Main Line Times" referred to above set out that the opening speech of the Second American Revolution Conference held at Bryn Mawr and Haverford Colleges was given by Dr. JOHN HOPE FRANKLIN, Chairman of the History Department at Brooklyn College. The article quoted Dr. FRANKLIN, a Negro, as stating that it should be noted that in the drafting of the United States Declaration of Independence, the founders of this country were willing to compromise freedom. He stated that the first draft included a direct condemnation of the slave trade but that the final draft ignored this immoral condition and thus produced our Nation's first serious compromise on the rights of man.

Dr. FRANKLIN is further quoted as stating that following the Civil War it became difficult to consolidate anything that might have been gained, and that even during the War when there were no Southern representatives in Congress, there were long debates over slavery. He stated there was a deep-rooted Northern opposition to the basic principles of human freedom. He stated a law calling for equal treatment of the Negro in public inns, eating places and cemeteries passed in 1875 but both Northern and Southern Congressmen boasted they would never obey the law. According to FRANKLIN, the white man in our country has developed racial prejudice into a fine art, especially in the North where this art has been carefully worked out. He stated that those of both races fighting for the Negro cause are making real contributions to the growth and greatness of America and are fighting for their significance as a Nation. He blamed the appearance of the Black Muslim movement as a product of despair comparable to the Back to Africa movement of the 1920's. He stated it gives the Negroes an identity, a hope, and a dignity that they could find no place else. He said he could think of a no worse position than that of the white man in the South who cannot truly believe in America and who cannot even speak or discuss the hatred that keeps them in chains.

Dr. FRANKLIN concluded if this Second Revolution fails, he is sorry for all the white leaders of the war for independence for this Nation will then be a failure.

An article in Volume XLIX, No. 12, of the "College News," self-identified as a college newspaper of Bryn Mawr College, which edition was captioned "Special Conference Edition" and was dated February 7, 1964, contained a number of articles pertaining to the Second American Revolution Conference which convened that date at Haverford and Bryn Mawr Colleges. An article on page 1 of that edition of the "College News" reflects that the working budget of the Conference is $7,500, $2,000 of which came from the Haverford and Bryn Mawr Student Associations. The article noted that the largest portion of the funds for the Conference came from foundations in that sizable donations were received or promised from the LOUIS M. RABINOWITZ Foundation and the Gandhi Society for Human Rights, due to its interest in civil rights matters. The article concluded that other foundations which have shown interest in the Conference are the Bill of Rights Fund and the Fund for Tomorrow.

Characterizations of the LOUIS M. RABINOWITZ Foundation, the Gandhi Society for Human Rights and the Bill of Rights Fund are attached hereto.

Characterization of Organizations

EMERGENCY CIVIL LIBERTIES COMMITTEE

The "Guide to Subversive Organizations and Publications", revised and published as of December 1, 1961, by the Committee on Un-American Activities, U. S. House of Representatives, documents the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee as follows:

"To defend the cases of Communist lawbreakers, Fronts have been devised making special appeals in behalf of civil liberties and reaching out far beyond the confines of the Communist Party itself. Among these organizations are the  Emergency Civil Liberties Committee. When the Communist Party itself is under fire, these fronts offer a bulwark of protection."

(Internal Security Subcommittee of the Senate
Judiciary Committee, Handbook for Americans,
S. Doc. 117, April 23, 1956, p. 91)

A source advised December 21, 1957 and January 6, 1958 that LEONARD BOUDIN, constitutional lawyer and legal counsel for Emergency Civil Liberties Committee, made a speech December 20, 1957, accepting the Philadelphia Associates as a group to work with the national organization. This occurred at a Bill of Rights Day celebration sponsored by the Philadelphia Associates, Emergency Civil Liberties Committee, at the Adelphia Hotel, Philadelphia.

A second source advised on May 23, 1962, that the Philadelphia Associates have not been active in the past two years, have no current active membership and do not maintain a headquarters in Philadelphia.

"RIGHTS"

The "Guide to Subversive Organizations and Publications," revised and published as of December 1, 1961, prepared and released by the Committee on Un-American Activities, United States House of Representatives, Washington, D.C., contains the following concerning "Rights":

"Rights"

It is a non-action organization and makes no attempt to influence legislation or participate in demonstrations. BILL OF RIGHTS FUND

On November 15, 1954, a source made available a mimeographed leaflet dated November 4, 1954, entitled "Announcement of Bill of Rights Funds, CORLISS LAMONT, Chairman." This leaflet reflects that CORLISS LAMONT had set aside $50,000 to initiate a special Bill of Rights Fund to give assistance to key organizations and enterprises that are working militantly and uncompromisingly for American Civil Liberties on the basis that the Bill of Rights should apply impartially to all groups and individuals in the United States; and, to provide financial help in especially significant individual cases involving constitutional issues in order to assist the victims with their legal defense and to lessen economic pressures on such persons if they have lost their jobs.

On May 1, 1963, a source advised that the captioned Fund continues to be active. The address for the Fund is in care of CORLISS LAMONT, 315 West 106th Street, Apartment 15C, New York 25, New York.

LOUIS BUDENZ, a former self-admitted member of the Communist Party, USA (CPUSA), and ex-managing editor of the "Daily Worker," testified in September 1953 at Washington, D.C., before the United States Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations that he knew CORLISS LAMONT as a member of the CPUSA in the 1930's and 1940's.

The "Daily Worker" was an east coast communist newspaper which suspended publication on January 13, 1958.

Synopsis:

Article in "New America" disclosed that JOHN HOPE FRANKLIN was one of those who petitioned the President to grant a pardon to JUNIUS SCALES, who was convicted under the Smith Act. FRANKLIN stated in "Freedomways" that DU BOIS was "a great source of inspiration" to him.

DETAILS:

Miscellaneous

On November 1, 1965, a review of the April 20, 1962 issue of "New America," an official publication of the Socialist Party-Social Democratic Federation, disclosed an article entitled, "550 Prominent Citizens Ask Freedom for Scales," on page one.

The article states in part; "Five hundred and fifty prominent Americans have petitioned President Kennedy to grant a pardon to Junius Scales, a former Communist who is serving a six year sentence in Lewisburg penitentiary under the 'membership clause' of the Smith Act; it was announced today at a joint press conference by Norman Thomas and Roger Baldwin....

"We believe the petition stated, 'that this is not the way to handle the problem of the ex-Communist. There is no point of view which can find solace in the fact that we have greeted with jail sentences men who have sincerely and honestly broken with Communism.

'We believe that these men were tragically wrong when they were active members of the Communist Party. Yet, we have every reason to respect their sincerity in breaking with the Communist Party and we wish to welcome them to the democratic community, not send them to jail!'"

The article listed among the signers, the name of JOHN HOPE FRANKLIN.

NY 161-866

On November 2, 1965, a review of the publication, "Freedomways," Volume 5, Number 1, winter issue of 1965, disclosed this to be a memorial issue of W.E.B. DU BOIS. Page 11 of this issue contained the following message from JOHN HOPE FRANKLIN:

"I am pleased to learn that Freedomways is planning an issue to memorialize Dr. Du Bois. For the latter portion of my life, Dr. Du Bois has been an inspiration to me and to most members of my generation. I remember so well the first time I heard him speak. It was in 1926 at the State Teachers Association in Oklahoma. Although I was a merrellad I was greatly moved by what he said on that occasion. From then to the end of his life he continued to be a great source of inspiration. His impeccable scholarship, his fearlessness as a leader, and his determination to secure freedom for all peoples, were the hallmarks of his great and illustrious life. I am certain that he will continue to wield enormous influence through his immortal writings."

"Freedomways" is published by Freedomways Associates, Incorporated. Information concerning Freedomways Associates, Incorporated, was set forth in a previous report in this matter. Information concerning W.E. B. DU BOIS also appears in another report in this matter.

Negro Historian John Franklin

Keynotes Conference Programs

According to John Hope Franklin, keynote speaker for the conference, "the Negro progresses only to the extent that the white man advances in understanding that a human being is a human being. There have been Negroes as talented as I before me, but they could not get where I have, because the white man was not advanced enough to let them."

The son of the first Negro lawyer in Tulsa, Oklahoma, Mr. Franklin graduated magna cum laude from Fisk College and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. He received his PhD in History from Harvard.

He helped write the NAACP's brief for the Supreme Court case of Brown vs. School Board of Topeka, the case that opened the way for school desegregation suits.

In 1956 he was appointed chairman of the History department at Brooklyn College, marking the first time that a Negro has held such a position in a municipal college. He recently resigned to become a professor of American History at the University of Chicago. He has also taught at the University of Wisconsin, Cornell, Harvard, Howard, and other institutions. Mr. Franklin recently spent a year as Pitt Professor of American History at Cambridge University and lectured at several European universities. He also appeared on British television discussing the Emancipation Proclamation.

Among Mr. Franklin's books are FROM SLAVERY TO FREEDOM, A HISTORY OF AMERICAN NEGROES, and THE EMANCIPATION PROCLAMATION.

In 1962 he became the first Negro member of the Cosmos Club in Washington, whose members include leaders in the arts, science, public service, and professions. Earlier, the club had refused membership to another Negro, Carl Rowan, who was then deputy assistant Secretary of State for Public Affairs.

K. Boudin and A. Raphael Head Executive Committee

The idea for the conference developed spontaneously on both the BMC and Haverford campuses. Last April Kathy Boudin and Alliance thought of organizing such a conference. Meanwhile Alan Raphael of Haverford considered the idea of a similar conference, and distributed pamphlets with six possible topics, of which this (civil rights) received the most votes. A permanent committee was formed and the plan was approved by the Council.

During May, Kathy and Alan formed a joint committee. The bulk of the organizing was done during the summer. The two colleges' administrations were informed of the plans and gave their approval of the plans.

The main speakers were scheduled and work was started on working papers. The executive committee started a campaign for foundation funds to finance the conference.

Tentative seminar topics were decided upon by the end of the summer, and a name for the conference was established.

This fall, student councils of both schools pledged funds for the conference. A joint college executive committee was appointed, and committee and working paper heads chosen.

Conference chairmen are Kathy Boudin and Alan Raphael. The executive committee includes Tom Horwitz, Robbie Manoff, Rick Bazelon, Meg Porter, Sally Shapiro, Sandy Shapiro, Caroline Willis, D. Neal, and W. D. Stephenson.

Other committee chairmen include: Robbie Manoff, Joanna Lewis, finance; Dave Lerner, publicity; Maddy Feldman, Roger Eton, speaker housing; Meg Porter, Sally Shapiro, seminar resource speakers; Mary Beth Shaub, Pam Murray, Jerry Schartfeger, student registration; Lucy Norman, Bob Berson, student housing; B.
